2016 Olympic Games & Social Media

- Rio 2016 is a big hit on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and Snapchat
- IOC banned Olympic athletes from mentioning their sponsors before and during the games, including on social media. See the social and digital media guideline below:
- <https://stillmed.olympic.org/media/Document%20Library/OlympicOrg/Games/Summer-Games/Games-Rio-2016-Olympic-Games/Social-Media-Blogging-Internet-Guidelines-and-News-Access-Rules/IOC-Social-and-Digital-Media-Guidelines-Rio-2016.pdf>
- Even GIFs images and embed of videos have been strictly prohibited.

- The most popular social network among Olympic fans is YouTube with 89% of the total, according to statistics published by GlobalWebIndex . It is followed by Facebook (83%) and Twitter (53%).

2020 Olympic Games & Social Media

- The IOC receives more than $4 billion in broadcasting rights for the period, including the 2018 Pyeongchang winter Olympics and the 2020 Tokyo Games, much of which goes back into the Games and in supporting sports and athletes.
- Sharing videos from the Tokyo 2020 Olympic Games on social media is not allowed, even for athletes.
- Ex) Jamaican double gold medalist sprinter Elaine Thompson-Herah was blocked briefly from Instagram on Wednesday after she had posted videos of her victorious 100 and 200 meters races to her 310,000 followers, violating broadcast rights for the Games.

PART ONE: FOR ATHLETES PARTICIPATING AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES PARIS 2024

The main objective of these guidelines is to enable athletes to share their personal experiences at the Olympic Games while protecting the rights of the IOC's media rights-holders.

You can take photographs and/or record audio/video at the Olympic Games (both inside and outside accredited areas such as the Olympic Village and competition venues) using your mobile phone as long as you respect the guidelines.

You can share photographs on your personal social media accounts and personal websites.

You can share your audio/video recordings (of up to two minutes each) on your personal social media accounts and personal websites:

 - i. from competition venues up to 1 hour before the start of your competition and after you have left the mixed zone/doping control station
 - ii. from training venues and practice areas
 - iii. from the Olympic Village
 - iv. at the Opening and Closing Ceremonies and/or
 - v. at the Champions Park.

Conditions that apply to posts:

-  Posts with video cannot be shared
 - of the (i) Olympic medals ceremonies or (ii) sports competitions (including anthems, coin toss and any celebrations on the field of play)
 - live or
 - if the video is longer than 2 minutes per post.

 -  Posts (with video or photographs) cannot be shared:
 - if commercial, which includes:
 - permitting ads
 - running paid marketing
 - making an arrangement with a social media platform or other entity (other than the official media rights-holder of your country) or
 - promoting any third party or products/ services (except posts with a photograph of an Olympic Sponsor's logo, product or service at the Olympic Games)
 - of the medical areas, doping control station or multi-faith centre or
 - using artificial intelligence (AI) or any AI generated content or outputs.

“Olympic Sponsor” means sponsors participating in the IOC’s highest level of international sponsorship, “The Olympic Partners Programme”, sponsors of your National Olympic Committee and sponsors of The Paris 2024 Organising Committee of the Olympic and Paralympic Games. You can find the list of sponsors of your NOC or of Paris 2024 by checking their websites.

Media Attention

Criticism cont.

- NYTimes “For Lolo Jones, Everything is image.”
- “Lolo Jones has received more attention than any other American track and field athlete based on what some have called a cynical marketing strategy that is long on hyperbole and short on achievement.”

Has she received far more attention than her achievement? Does it matter?

What if she has finished in 3rd place?
